NATIVE THINKING: Every plant is native to some place in the world. When it is moved beyond its normal range it is called an exotic. When a plant lives in its natural range and habitat it can grow and reproduce without outside aid. It is in balance with its surroundings. It is neither aggressive nor overpowered. In its own special place it is always a thing of great beauty.

RESTORATION ORDERS

A wide range of sedges, grasses, and forbs from flatwoods and other ecosystems are available by special order for restoration projects.

tubeling - a 4.5 inch deep and 2 inch wide cone, 40 cells per tray -- Good for restoration planting. Other tubeling sizes may be ordered. Price discounts for large orders.

Wfp- wild flower pot. Typically 4" to a quart pot.

Lin- liner. Typically 2" wide cup.

B.r.- Bare root

Habitat H-hydric, wet
 M-mesic, medium
 X- xeric, dry
 These are general terms to help you in planning. Generally speaking, plants of hydric areas also do well under regular irrigation. Plants listed as mesic are usually more adaptable to extremes. Xeric plants will frequently do well under some irrigation, but are then more susceptible to disease and insect attack. We have, however, listed many plants as xeric that occur in a range from xeric to mesic, so ask for more information.
